NOTE TO AUTHORS: Read this form carefully before signing. Please note that authors are responsible for obtaining written permission from the copyright holder to use copyright materials in the manuscripts listed below. Authors who are college and university faculty or who work for corporations should consult the appropriate office at their institutions to determine whether the author or institutions owns copyright.

Copyright Assignment and Author Disclosure Form

Author: ___________________________________________ Date: ____________________
Co-Author(s): ___________________________________________ Tracking Number: PH________
Manuscript Title: ___________________________________________

Thank you for submitting your manuscript for publication in Phycologia. In order to expedite the publishing process and enable the International Phycological Society to disseminate your work to the fullest extent, please complete and return this Copyright Assignment and Author Disclosure Form as soon as possible. If your contribution is not accepted for publication, this agreement will be null and void.

My signature below signifies that I have read and accept the following terms:

A. Copyright Assignment

The Author hereby assigns and transfers to the International Phycological Society, during the full term of copyright and any extensions or renewals of that term, all copyright in and to the Manuscript named above, in all forms and media of expression now known or later developed. The Author also agrees to transfer and assign to the International Phycological Society all related rights including but not limited to all common law rights, all future claims of any nature, including the right to sue for copyright infringement and to recover and retain any damages paid or received as a result of such infringement.

B. Contributions Owned by Employer

If the Manuscript named above was written by the Author during the course of employment (work-for-hire), the Manuscript is owned by the company/employer who must sign this Form in the space provided below. In such case, the Employer hereby assigns to the International Phycological Society, during the full term of copyright and any extensions or renewals of that term all copyright in and to the Manuscript named above, in all forms and media of expression now known or later developed. The Employer also agrees to transfer and assign to the International Phycological Society all related rights including but not limited to all common law rights, all future claims of any nature, including the right to sue for copyright infringement and to recover and retain any damages paid or received as a result of such infringement.

C. Government Employees

In the case of a manuscript prepared under United States, United Kingdom, Canadian, or Australian government contract or grant, the respective government may reproduce, without charge, all portions of the Manuscript and may authorize others to do so for official government purposes. Copyright assignment applies only to the extent allowable by law.

D. Retained Rights

Notwithstanding the above, the Author, or if applicable the Author’s employer, retains all rights other than copyright and its related rights listed above, such as patent and trade mark rights as well as the rights to any process or procedure described in the Manuscript.

In addition to the retained rights above, the International Phycological Society grants back to the Author the following:
The right to use the Manuscript named above for academic and research purposes including oral presentations, class lectures, and course packs as well as distributing of photocopies and PDFs to colleagues.

The right to republish, with a citation to the source of the published article, all or part of the material from the published manuscript in the future works written or edited by the Author including thesis/dissertation and books.

The right to make oral presentations using all or part of the material from the published manuscript.

The right to use the Manuscript named above for academic purposes limited to classroom lectures and course packs.

The right to republish, with a citation to the source of the published article, all or part of the material from the published manuscript in all future works of the Author.

The right to republish, with a citation to the source of the published article, all or part of the material from the published manuscript in a book written or edited by the Author.

The right to republish, with a citation to the source of the published article, all or part of the material from the published manuscript in the Author’s thesis or dissertation.

The right to make and distribute photocopies or PDFs of the published manuscript for teaching and research purposes.

The right to post, with a citation to the source of the published article, an electronic version of the published manuscript, in form and content as published by the International Phycological Society for publication in Phycologia, on the Author’s secure internal university or corporate network.

E. Author Warranties and Disclosure

The Author represents and warrants the following:

- He/She has the right to assign and transfer (unless Authors falls under exceptions listed in Paragraphs C or D above) and has not previously transferred copyright to any other society, publisher, or institution.
- He/She has or will obtain written permission from the copyright holder to reproduce material owned by a third party.
- He/She has sufficiently participated in the development and completion of this manuscript to take public responsibility for it.
- The Manuscript named above is the Author’s original work and has not been previously published elsewhere in whole or in part nor is it under consideration elsewhere.
- The Manuscript contains no libelous or otherwise unlawful statements and does not infringe on the rights of third parties.
- This manuscript will not be used for the promotion of any products, materials, or services.
- He/She will disclose any conflict of interest including to but not limited to employment, direct payments, retainers, consultancies, and stock holdings, with any individual, company, or organization with a vested interest in the subject matter discussed in the manuscript.

F. Indemnity Clause

The Author agrees to release, hold harmless and indemnify the International Phycological Society, its directors, officers, and partners against any and all liability, either to the society or the public, for any breach of the above warranties. Author understands that the International Phycological Society can and will take legal action against him/her if the society, its directors, officers, or partners are sued for copyright infringement as a result of the Author's breach of the warranties listed above.

G. Author Agreements

- The Author agrees that the Editor may do what is necessary to prepare the article for publication including any changes in title, grammar, and format to conform to the journal’s style.
- The Author understands that he/she may be charged for author errors and/or revisions.
- The Author understands that she/he can purchase reprints of this article. Reprints are available in electronic and print forms. The Printer will send a rate sheet and order form. All reprint orders must be received by the Printer before the issue goes to press.
- The Author grants the International Phycological Society the right to use his/her name and biographical data.
- The Author agrees to obtain permission to use or republish any part of this article in any way not granted in Paragraph D above.
H. Open Access Publication

Authors may choose to pay for open access publication. Articles published open access in Phycologia will be published under a Creative Commons CC-BY-NC license, which means the articles may be reused with proper attribution for non-commercial use.

Author(s) Signature(s) Required

Author’s Name (Please Print): __________________________
Author’s Signature: __________________________
Today’s Date: __________________________

One author may sign on behalf of all authors, by signing the following statement: “I represent that I am authorized to execute this transfer of copyright on behalf of all the authors of the article described above.”

Author’s Signature: __________________________

Government Employees Exception

Author (Employee): I certify that the above Manuscript was written as part of my official duties as a government employee. I agree to all the warranties listed above in Paragraph E.

Author’s Name (Please Print): __________________________
Author’s Signature: __________________________
Today’s Date: __________________________

Work-for-Hire Exception

Employee: I certify that the above Manuscript was written during the course of my employment. I agree to all the warranties above in Paragraph E.

Author’s Name (Please Print): __________________________
Author’s Signature: __________________________
Today’s Date: __________________________

Copyright Holder: I agree to transfer and assign copyright pursuant to Paragraph C above.

Copyright Holder’s Name (Please Print): __________________________
Copyright Holder’s Title: __________________________
Copyright Holder’s Signature: __________________________
Today’s Date: __________________________

Open Access Publication

Author: I wish to have my article published open access and, therefore, agree to publication under the Creative Commons CC-BY-NC license.

Author’s Name (Please Print): __________________________
Author’s Signature: __________________________
Today’s Date: __________________________

One author may sign on behalf of all authors, by signing the following statement: “I represent that I am authorized to execute this transfer of copyright on behalf of all the authors of the article described above.”

Author’s Signature: __________________________

Your article will not be published without this form. Please make a copy for your records. Please complete and return a PDF of the signed form to:

Dr. David J. Garbary, FLS
Editor-in-Chief, Phycologia
garbaryphycologia@gmail.com